

What is StringBuilder?

- StringBuilder is a Java class used to build and modify strings efficiently.
- Unlike String, it is mutable – changes are made to the same object.
- It avoids creating new objects again and again during string modifications.

Why use it?

- It is faster and memory-efficient, especially in loops or repetitive tasks.
- Ideal for reversing strings, building patterns, or solving interview problems.